NIGHT HORROR.

A House Destroyed by Explosives.

Five Bodies Taken From the Ruins,

And Ten or Fifteen More to Hear From

The Deadly Deed the Work of the Mafia.

The New Orleans Levee, the Scene of So Many Tragedies, Is the Scene of This One.

NEW ORLEANS, April 5—A terrible explosion occurred at the corner of Decatur and Ursuline streets this morning about 2 o'clock. The ship chandler's store of Charles J. Salathe and the adjoining saloon, the Fishermen's Exchange, conducted by Charles Salathe, were completely demolished. Fire broke out immediately following the explosion. It occurred in the ship chandler's store, in which a quantity of powder and shot have always been kept on hand. The front and side walls of the two buildings were entirely blown down, but the rear partitions were left standing, showing that the explosion had occurred in the front part of the building. The number of dead is not known. At least half a dozen were sleeping in the buildings at the time, and are buried beneath the debris, and it is feared that they have been either crushed to death or will be burned to a crisp before the firemen rescue them.

At the hour of the explosion the street in front was beginning to fill up with market people. A number of wagons were on Decatur street and the sidewalks and in the markets small knots of men were getting out their goods and trading for their daily supplies. Their trading was cut short by a muffled sound that came from across the street and as they instinctively turned, expecting an explosion, the walls lifted and came down with a crash on all sides. The force of the explosion was terrible. Drivers were hurled from the vehicles and the wares on the market stands were blown to the four winds.

The explosion, as near as the market people could judge, occurred about five minutes after 2 o'clock. It was Salathe's grocery and barroom, a two-story building two doors from the corner. Salathe and his wife and one child are supposed to have been killed. His bedroom was directly over the powder and he has not been seen since. One of his children emerged from the ruins in his night clothes after the engines had been at work on the flames about five minutes, to the great surprise of every one.

Twelve people are known to be buried under the ruins of the two buildings.

The explosion was caused by powder stored in the grocery which was blown to pieces. The French market was just being opened and the men who sell fish and other food were unloading their wagons. Some of them had gone into the saloon to drink and the barkeeper, Felix Rego, and five or six people who were drinking there are under the debris. Splinters, bricks, pieces of timbers and other material were scattered on the market, damaging that and the windows of Sarrazin's tobacco factory adjoining.

More than six men who were in the streets were slightly injured by flying particles. Emile Boulet, the owner of the barroom, had stepped across the street for a moment and was in the market when the explosion occurred thus saving his own life. There were sleeping apartments over the barroom, in which a number of people were supposed to be resting for the night, as it was a sort of lodging house.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. The owner of the grocery store where it occurred was Charles P. Salathe. He kept a large quantity of powder, which he sold to fishermen and hunters.

Charles Salathe, the groceryman, was lost in the ruins, together with his wife, a ten months-old baby, three servants, a clerk and an orphan boy. Two of the children of the grocer were miraculously saved. One, a little girl named Ellie, was found in the debris in a different section of the ruins from her brother, Eddie. Both children were slightly scratched. They were not buried under the ruins, although they were sleeping in different parts of the building. Eddie was in a back room, while his mother, father and the little one were sleeping in the room in front. No sounds could be heard of the wounded under the debris and the supposition is that they are dead.

The estimated number of dead is fifteen. Charles Reese, of Howard and Lafayette streets, a colored man, was seriously wounded by flying timbers and was carried to the hospital in an ambulance. Lillie (not Ellie) Salathe was pulled out from between some timbers by John Bagnerei.

The frantic cries of excited women and children and the breathless agony of men who surrounded the frightful scene beggars description. People ran to and fro, so much out of their wits that they could not give intelligent answers to queries. The following are the names of the missing so far as obtained: Joseph Grainaldi, Mike Diri, Felix Rigaud. At 1 15 o'clock the bodies of Salathe and his wife were recovered. The parish prisoners were sent to the scene to aid in clearing away the debris.

BOULET'S THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

One of the survivors was Mr. L. R. Boulet. He tells his experience amidst falling walls and flying bricks as follows. "I was asleep on the second story of the saloon, in the corner room. I was awakened by the ceiling falling. At first I thought it was a dream, but I soon found that it was not, when I saw that I could not move. I lay still for what seemed to me a long time. When I heard some one crying, 'Oh, my God, my children,' I did not know what had happened. I could hear people talking, but I could not make myself heard. Several times I called out as loud as I could while I was lying trying to think what it was that had happened. It was dark, and I could not see anything. I knew that it was the ceiling that had fallen, and that was all. After a while I tried to move and found that by cramping myself into as small space as possible I could breath easier. Then I heard someone walking over me. I called out and he answered me. He proved to be a friend of mine named Willie Morse. When he heard me he told me not to be afraid, but to keep quiet and that he would get me out in a short time. Then he went away, but soon came back with some friends and they started digging a hole over me. They worked fast and it did not take long to make a large enough hole to pull me through. I do not remember much more for the strain was so great that I was almost unconscious when they got me out and brought me over to this saloon. I am not hurt except a few scratches. I know that Mr. Salathe kept some powder on hand in his store, but I don't know how much. I cannot imagine how the powder came to explode. Some people say it was not powder that exploded, but I do not know of anything else in the building that could have caused the wreck. I am certain that I was the only person on the second floor of the saloon. I do not know how many persons were sleeping in the second floor of the grocery. Down stairs in the saloon was Felix Riguad, the barkeeper, and he is buried in the ruins. I think that this body will be found in the front part of the house. I believe that there are a number of persons buried in the ruins of the saloon, because it is the custom of a great many to come into the saloon at about 12 o'clock and sleep there. I have seen as many as ten and fifteen there at one time. There is no telling how many persons are killed and no one will know until after the ruins are thoroughly searched." Mr. Boulet considers his experience as a great event. He was minus his shoes and was dressed in a flannel shirt and trousers. His face and shirt were full of fine dust and on the back of one of his hands was a scratch about two inches long, which were the only perceptible marks of injury. Emile Chatard, a negro boy, who was driving a wagon, had a narrow escape, and shivered as he related it. He was on Decatur street and had stopped his horse almost immediately in front of the saloon while he went in and got a match from the barkeeper. He had just received the match from the hands of the barkeeper and was walking back towards his horse when the building was blown up. He was frightened and his first impulse was to jump on his wagon and drive his horse off, which he did, requiring no urging. Fortunately for the negro the walls which were blown outward on Decatur street did not reach to where his horse and wagon stood, or he certainly would have been injured or killed, together with his horse. As it was when the walls came down the horse was frightened and ran off some distance. The boy looked back at the house and saw a terrible sight. The flames were blazing up and issuing from the house, and debris of every kind was scattered all over the vicinity. Hundreds of crabs that were piled up in the grocery store were scattered about on the sidewalks and street.

TO THE RESCUE.

The explosion was distinctly heard heard at the diocesean house, only a few blocks away, and Archbishop Janssens and his household hastened to the scene to render what assistance they could. Salathe's place was known as the "Fishermen's Exchange," and was rich in memories of the Cheniere Caminada storm. It was there that many of the rescued made their headquarters when they were brought to the city, and it was a very popular resort of the fishing people.

TWO BODIES RECOVERED.

At 4 o'clock this morning two bodies were recovered. They were identified as those of Charles Salathe and his wife.

At daylight this morning the work of removing the ruins began. Crowds of people hung around the spot and the police were compelled to use force to keep them away.

MORE BODIES TAKEN OUT.

About 8 o'clock the workmen came across the mangled body of Felix Rigot, the barkeeper. He was under a pile of timber in the front part of the saloon. He was dead when taken out.

Ten minutes later another body was

OSCAR WEAKENS.

Withdraws His Suit Against the Marquis of Queensberry.

Thereby Virtually Admitting the Truth of the Defendant's Statements—Wilde to be Arrested.

LONDON, April 5—The suit of Oscar Wilde against the Marquis of Queensberry came to a sudden and unexpected termination today shortly after the third day's proceedings, which were begun in the Old Bailey before Justice Collins. Edward Clarke, leading counsel for the plaintiff asked permission on behalf of his client to withdraw the suit and submit to a verdict of not guilty in regard to the words "posing as a — —" written by the Marquis of Queensberry at the Albemarle club, for Wilde, on February 18, and which formed the outward basis of the suit. The jury, under instructions from Justice Collins, returned a verdict of not guilty, coupled with the statement that the justification set up as a defense by the Marquis of Queensberry was true in substance and in fact the statement complained of was published for the public good. The verdict was received with loud applause which was not checked by the presiding justice, and the Marquis of Queensberry was discharged from custody and left the court triumphant, smiling and surrounded by his friends. Shortly afterwards it was announced that a warrant for the arrest of Oscar Wilde was to be applied for, all the papers in the case having been submitted to the public prosecutor.

HANGED HIMSELF.

Jack Roush Ends His Troubles in Death.

Repairs to His Barn at an Early Hour and Later His Lifeless Body is Found Suspended From a Beam.

BLUFFTON, April 5—Jackson Roush, an old citizen, hanged himself in his barn about 6 o'clock this morning, and his body was not discovered until life was extinct. About a year ago Roush was arrested upon a charge of poisoning a girl in the attempt to commit abortion. He was tried in the Adams circuit court and acquitted, but he never could forget the stain upon his character and brooded over the matter until he became despondent and then committed suicide. He was about fifty-eight years old.

DYNAMITE FIENDS.

Blow Up the Boat of a Non-Union Miner.

His Wife and Children in the Boat. But They Miraculously Escape Injury.

POMEROY, Ohio, April 5—An attempt was made at Minersville early this morning to blow up by dynamite the family boat of John Forbes, a miner, imported to take the place of striking miners. The boat was badly shattered, but no lives were lost. Fourteen men have taken the places of old miners in Williams' mine and serious trouble is feared. Forbes fired on the dynamiters, but they escaped. There was a woman and two children on the wrecked boat. The situation is getting desperate in Minersville.

Dead While Holding the Reins.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 5—Mrs. John Graves, residing on the west side of the Wabash river, went to Battle Ground, Tuesday, called by the illness of a friend. She started home in a buggy, in apparent good health. Two miles distant from this city the vehicle in which she was seated met a team, the wagon of which was loaded with hay. Mrs. Graves' horse turned out, but ran the vehicle so far from the road as to overturn it. A physician ran to the assistance of Mrs. Graves, but was horrified to find that she was dead. He gave it as his opinion, however, that she had been dead for fifteen or twenty minutes before the accident, and that she died in her buggy while driving along the highway, and that the horse, unguided by the reins, overturned the vehicle. The woman was sixty eight years old.

FOUR TRAMPS KILLED.

They Were Stealing a Ride on an Alton Train.

Fifteen Cars Piled One Upon the Other and the Unfortunate Men Beneath the Debris.

ALTON, Ill., April 5—In a freight wreck on the Chicago and Alton cut-off, at Woodriver bridge, a half mile north of East Alton, this morning four men were killed outright and two were fatally injured.

A long heavy freight train was coming down the grade when the middle of the train bulged out and fifteen cars were piled on top of each other. None of the four victims are known but are supposed to be tramps who were stealing a ride. The injured men were brought to the hospital in this city. An inquest over the remains of the dead was held at East Alton. Only two of them have been identified. They are

David Hefley, of Watertown, Wis.
Frank Hareman, of Philadelphia.

Fourteen were injured more or less seriously. Their names are.

Charles Custard, Lima Ohio.
Otto Schruider, Argentine, Kas.
Theodore Hunt, St. Paul, Minn.
Thomas Cope, St. Louis, Mo.
Harry Williams, Toledo, Ohio.
M. Hickens, Chicago.
W. W. Willetts, Dallas, Texas.
Ed. Olebusheyst, Germany.
Harry Glass, Chicago.
James Hart, no home.
James Martin, Fall River, Mass.
John Howard, Cincinnati.
Robert Selt, New York.
Winfred Garrison, Martinsville, Mo.

The train wrecked was a south-bound freight and all who were killed or injured are tramps. The wreck was caused by the train being too heavily loaded behind, and when the brakes were put on the front cars the weight behind was thrown onto a flat car in the middle of the train, crushing it to atoms and wrecking the other cars.

FOUR KILLED.

Fatal Accident on the B., Z. and C. Railroad.

A Trestle Gives Way, Allowing the Cars to Drop to the Bottom of the River.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, April 5—Four persons were killed outright and a fifth fatally injured in a wreck of the Bellaire, Zanesville and Cincinnati narrow guage at a trestle, about 5 miles east of Summerfield, this morning. A coach jumped the track as the train was approaching the trestle, which is situated on a curve. The coach ran on the ties half way across and then the engine also left the rails, carrying down five bents of the trestle to the ravine below.

THE WRECK IN DETAIL.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 5—A special to the Dispatch from Summerfield, Ohio, says the morning passenger train, No. 538, on the Bellaire, Zanesville and Cincinnati railway, consisting of an engine baggage car and passenger coach, left here on time and moved along nicely until the train reached trestle No 98, near Whigville when the coach jumped the track and ran a considerable distance into the trestle when it turned over, drawing the engine and baggage car down with the trestle. The engine turned end for end and the coach turned bottom up, with its sides crushed in.

There were four killed outright, as follows:

Eli Lucas, engineer, Sommerfield, O.
Henry Brown, passenger, Bealsville, Ohio.
Mrs. Nathan Young and little daughter, Sommerfield, Ohio.

THE INJURED.

Jesse Jones, fatally injured, Sommerfield, Ohio.
Nathan Young, fatally injured, Sommerfield, Ohio.
Joseph Fenoon, seriously injured, Barnesville, Ohio.
Frank Holland, baggagemaster, leg broken, Sommerfield, Ohio.

The fireman, Jesse Jones, was pinioned beneath the overturned engine and was badly cut and scalded when found. He cannot live.

Nathan Young was rescued from the coach, but he cannot live. No examination was made of his injuries, as he is in a precarious condition.

The four killed in the wreck were killed outright. The engine and cars are a total wreck, as is also the trestle. The trestle over which the train overturned was about forty feet high.

MIDNIGHT TRIAL.

Justice Bohen Hears a Case Against a Theatrical Manager.

Jesse Forsyth Sent to Jail—A Divorce Asked for—Jury Case Before Judge Dawson.

Justice M. F. Bohen was aroused from his peaceful slumbers at midnight last night to go to his office, where he issued warrants to capias Edwin Warner, the manager of Hanlon's Superbs, which gave performances at the Masonic Temple last night and the night before, for debts owing by the company to Charles Eckart, Frank Schafer, John Mooney and Julius Haibenstein, "supers" from this city, who assisted in the production of the play here.

The boys brought suit for two nights service, amounting to fifty cents each, and their combined bills aggregated $2. They had demanded this amount from the manager, but he refused to pay it, claiming that he had paid it to some one of the persons in charge of the stage. The officers arrested the manager and took him before Justice Bohen at 1 o'clock, when the case was heard. The boys were given judgment for the amount of their bills and the manager paid it, with the costs, which amounted to over $11.

Judge S. M. Hench, as attorney for Charles Rader, has brought suit asking that his client may be given a divorce from Mariel Rader.

The case of the McIntosh Manufacturing company against E. Shuman is on trial to a jury in Judge Dawson's court.

Judge Lowry has returned from Auburn, where he was attending to some cases in the circuit court.

Jesse Forsyth, who was arrested for petit larceny at Dunfee, was sent to jail by Judge O'Rourke for thirty days.

The charge against Mary Barnhart, for conducting a house of ill fame, was dismissed in the circuit court.

THE ELKHART MAN.

Carl Beardsley Engaged in Business in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 5—Carl Beardsley, son of Charles Beardsley, of Elkhart, Ind., who disappeared mysteriously from the Michigan university at Ann Arbor last fall, is engaged in business in San Francisco, and does not evince any interest whatever in his Alma Mater or any other incident in his school days or home life. Mr. Beardsley has formed a partnership with Lars L. Ole, and is now engaged in the somewhat novel and incongruous occupation of cleaning wall paper. Mr. Beardsley is also a popular member of the local Y. M. C. A., which he joined upon his arrival in this city. Mr. Beardsley said: "My reason for leaving the university was simply that I lost interest in my studies and was determined to try my luck with the world. I first went east and traveled in search of a healthier climate and business opportunities."

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

Mrs. Catharine Bugbee Succumbs to Heart Disease.

She Was Well and Hearty Last Evening, But by 11 O'clock Was a Corpse.

Mrs. Catherine Bugbee, wife of John Bugbee, living at the corner of Bond and Pittsburg streets, in Lumbard's addition, died suddenly of heart disease at 11 o'clock last night.

Mrs. Bugbee was apparently as well as ever yesterday and retired at 11 o'clock as usual. A few moments later she was taken very ill and Dr. George C. Stenan was hastily sent for. The doctor arrived too late, however, as Mrs. Bugbee was beyond all medical aid. She was fifty eight years of age and, besides her husband, leaves two children. The deceased was a faithful Christian lady, being a devoted and hard-working member of St. Paul's M. E. church. Her husband is employed on the Pittsburg railway.

Coroner Harrod was called about midnight and after examining into all the details, pronounced the cause of Mrs. Bugbee's death to be heart disease. He will render a verdict to that effect.

No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral.

FERGUSON.

Miss Mary Ferguson, aged twenty one years, died early this morning at No. 102 Richardson street, of an abdominal abscess. She leaves a mother and three sisters. Her father died some time ago. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

JOHN O. SEYS

Proves Himself a Pugnacious Reporter at Chicago.

In His Search for News During a Riot He Exchanges Blows With a Street Car Superintendent.

John O. Seys, formerly city editor of the Journal, in this city, but now a reporter on an evening paper in Chicago, is getting into prominence at the metropolis. This morning's edition of the Times-Herald gives an account of a riot which occurred there yesterday during the war between the street car lines.

Acting under the orders of Superintendent Bower, a hundred employes of the Chicago City Railway company seized a street car of the General Railway company at Grover and Twenty-second street yesterday morning and in fifteen minutes reduced it to kindling wood. Three hundred spectators shouted disapproval of the action, and but for the efforts of Lawrence McGann, of the company whose car was wrecked, would have assaulted the wreckers. Several individuals came to blows, but before the fighting became general a patrol wagon full of policemen rolled up. These added to the indignation, as the crowd interpreted their arrival as in aid of the wreckers but the efforts of Mr. McGann soon quelled the more turbulent.

The incident in which Reporter Seys figured is thus told by the Times Herald. "The policeman on the beat tried to stop the work of destruction, but Mr. McGann told him to attempt no arrests. He went away to telephone for assistance. The crowd was shouting its disapproval during the work of destruction and one of the special detectives of the aggressive company stepped over to the sidewalk to silence them. He was given a thump that landed him in the street. John O. Seys, a reporter for an evening paper, stepped up to Superintendent Bower with a question and was answered with a blow. The superintendent is a large man and the reporter a small one, but Seys struck back, landing on the superintendent's jaw. At the same instant a bystander struck the superintendent a glancing blow on the head with a 'black jack.'

"Mr. McGann prevented the further continuance of these disturbances, and by his efforts a riot was prevented. He was everywhere urging peace and no demonstration, and as the police rolled up Mr. McGann said: 'It's all right, boys; make no arrests. There will be no trouble.' The police were disposed to arrest the pugnacious little Seys, who was inviting Superintendent Bower to step out of the crowd of his employes and receive the drubbing which Seys promised him."

LINCOLN MEMORIAL.

The Memory of Our Martyred President to be Honored.

A Fine Program Arranged for the Occasion by Secretary McCaughey, of the City Y. M. C. A.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the management of the City Y. M. C. A. for the proper observance of Lincoln Memorial day, which occurs on Sunday, April 14.

Thirty years ago on this day Abraham Lincoln, the greatest figure in the history of the United States, was shot down by the cowardly bullet of an assassin in Ford's Theater, Washington. Every year since that calamity, upon this date, the American people have been moved by a common impulse to observe the day, and this year the custom will become almost universal.

The program is already out for the exercises and is as follows:

Overture	Y. M. C. A. Orchestra
Song—"America"	Audience
Prayer
Song—"Columbia the Gem of the Ocean"
Scripture reading
Solo and chorus—"The Battle Hymn of the Republic"	Haydn quartet
Address	Rev. L. S. Amsden
Closing song—"Blest be the Tie that Binds"	Audience
Benediction

All the military organizations of the city have been invited to attend in uniform and many have accepted the invitation. Among those who will be present at the Y. M. C. A. will be the G. A. R. posts, Sons of Veterans, P. O. S. of A. and the state military companies.

Extra preparations have been made for music and the association's orchestra has been greatly strengthened for the occasion.

W. A. SPIEGEL.

Fort Wayne Man Starting a New Industry at Cleveland.

In Wednesday's issue of the World, of Cleveland, Ohio, we find this news of local interest. "New enterprises are coming to Cleveland almost daily. One of the latest and what promises to be an important industry, but which The World is not prepared to divulge today, is being projected by Mr. W. A. Spiegel, of Fort Wayne, Ind., a young and prominent business man of that city. Mr. Spiegel has been in the city for some days and it is understood that he has a large syndicate of capitalists at his back. He brings letters of introduction to many prominent citizens of Cleveland although he scarcely needs them as he has a large acquaintance here, especially in the piano trade. Tally another great enterprise for Cleveland."

On account of the presence of diphtheria at the School for Feeble Minded Youth, Superintendent Johnson has established a quarantine at the institution and none of the inmates or employes will leave the grounds or visitors be permitted. The disease is now being managed nicely. There have been no deaths from it for several weeks. There are now twenty cases of diphtheria at the institution, but the physician in charge has them under control and it is not thought there will be any increase of the disease.

DESPERATE SUICIDE.

Daniel H. Foulks Makes His Own Death Doubly Sure.

With a Rope Around His Neck He Puts Three Bullets in His Brain—Police Jottings.

The East Palestine, Ohio, Review has the following to say of the suicide of 'Squire Daniel H. Foulks, an uncle of Policeman Albert Foulks, of this city, and brother of Charles Foulks, of Sheldon. Another nephew, George, also resides in this city, on Baker street:

"About 10 o'clock last Saturday morning 'Squire Daniel H. Foulks, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Columbiana county, committed suicide by hanging himself in his corn crib and also putting three bullets through his brain. The 'squire has long been a sufferer from muscular rheumatism and of late the disease was getting worse. He was unmarried and lived on his farm of 160 acres near Calcutta, Ohio. His sister died last year and left him alone, but he kept house for himself, living with the hired man. The 'squire was in East Liverpool the day before and met many old friends and seemed to be as well as usual. But in the evening he went home, not feeling well, and probably the fear of a return of his malady led him to commit the rash act. The hired man missed him the next morning, and after hunting for some time found him dead, hanging by a rope, and with his feet touching the floor. Near his feet lay an old revolver, which he had used with such deadly effect. With help the body was cut down and carried to the house, where an inquest was held in the afternoon. The deceased was sixty-five years of age."

'Squire Foulks was well known in this city and county, having often visited here. He was also a warm personal friend of Dr. J. W. Younge. His brother, Charles, is now lying at the point of death at his home in Sheldon.

POLICE JOTTINGS.

Officer Foulks was called to Sheldon yesterday afternoon by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his father.

The police have a valuable overcoat at the city hall, which is awaiting identification by its owner. One of the street car men found it the other day tucked under the seat of an old wagon back of the street car barn. It was evidently placed there by some overcoat thief.

Miss Delight Oswalt, claiming Fort Wayne as her home, is in jail in Frankfort, charged with stealing silverware and bed clothing. Several persons of this name have been seen, but none of them profess to know the young lady.

Officer Flickinger has reported for duty. He has not been working for some days on account of the illness of his wife.

The new belts recently ordered for the police will be sent back to the Chicago firm of whom they were purchased. Mr. Rossington, of the board of safety, says they are not the belts which he ordered, the quality being inferior. The new twenty-two inch clubs will, however, be kept.

Officer Tommie Dixon is taking sparring lessons of Professor Pitzlin and is said to be fast developing a blow which is warranted to bring an opponent down upon the first application. Officer Dixon is also the champion sprinter on the force.

Chief of Police John H. Haller, of Lima, Ohio, was in the city yesterday, the guest of his brother-in-law, Thomas Blair.

Thirteen tramps spent the night at police station. This is the smallest number for many weeks past.

This is pay day for the members of the force and most of the night men curtailed their morning rest in order to draw their salaries.

CASE DISMISSED.

The case against Christian Zollinger, charged with assaulting Earl Wilson, did not come to trial in the mayor's court. The prosecuting witness failed to show up at 9 o'clock and Zollinger was let go.

EXTREME CRUELTY.

The humane officer is investigating a case of extreme cruelty to children, reported from Holman street. It is alleged that a woman on that street has two small children, a girl and boy, and that the little ones have been compelled by their unnatural mother to sleep in the barn, while she entertains company at the house. The little ones have often suffered terribly, so the neighbors say.

HER LETTER

TELLS A WOMAN'S STORY.

Written for Eyes of Other Women.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

There is inestimable pleasure in doing good to others, and joy in a grateful recognition of the act.

On the old York Road, Huntington Park, Philadelphia, dwells Miss M. Downs, whose portrait we give. She desires that her case may be stated as a means of benefiting others. She says: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me of kidney trouble, painful menstruations, and headaches. It is truly a wonderful medicine. I cannot describe my feelings before I took it. The pain in my back was dreadful, and during menstruations the agony I suffered nearly drove me wild, and then my head would ache for a week, and now that is all over, thanks to your good remedy. I trust my testimonial will lead others to take it and be cured. They can find it at any drug store. Our druggist says the demand for it is very large, it is helping so many sickly women."

EVANSVILLE has elected a republican mayor

LAPORTE county farmers say the wheat crop is frozen out.

RICHMOND will have a music festival, May 27, 28 and 29.

A BILL has passed the Tennessee house limiting the rent on telephones in that state to not over $2 per month.

THE streets are easily cleaned, but the most danger lies in filthy alleys and yards and the board of health should issue instructions, and enforce them, for a general cleaning up.

THE people of Indiana will have no elections until November next year—nineteen months hence. Then they will have an election that will be an election, and a ticket about as long as that of November, 1894, as there will be state and county tickets to be elected.

A STRANGE coincidence connected with the recent meeting of the north Indiana conference at Logansport was the fact that three ministers, Revs. Boston, Gabriel and Birch, who died during the last year, were pastors of the three M. E. churches of that city during the same year.

QUITE an effort is being made by some newspapers to make it appear that Governor Matthews and Senator Voorhees are in collusion to do something or other of an extraordinary character In the meantime both of these distinguished Indianians are attending to their official and personal affairs with their customary ability.

A STORY is going the rounds of the press about a farmer who went into a drug store and for the first time saw a phonograph. He was told to drop a nickel in the slot and hear the music. Farmer, doubting, dropped in a nickle, put the tubes to his ears, and, after listening a second, started for the door with the hasty exclamation: "Gosh all fish hooks! Here comes a brass band and I left them mules unhitched."

IN various places in this state those in favor of the Moore temperance bill are canvassing to ascertain if votes enough can be secured to sign remonstrances against granting liquor licenses at the coming June term of commissioners court to prevent licenses from being issued. In Franklin, this state, in one ward having 300 voters, 200 voters have signed an agreement to remonstrate against all saloon keepers as soon as applications are filed. Good Citizens Leagues are being organized in almost every county and their purpose will be to prevent the granting of liquor licenses.

As advertisement in a New York daily stated that "a one legged man would learn of something to his advantage" by calling at a certain address A curious individual called and met the advertiser, a man who had lost his right leg. He said: "If I can find a man who has lost the other leg and wears the same size shoe that I do, we can whack up, and by buying our shoes together we would save considerable"

CHOLERA may not visit us this summer, but there are other diseases which an unclean condition of the streets and premises invite. There should be a thorough and general cleaning up this spring. The sanitary ordinances should be more than matters for spasmodic enforcement. Every vestige of garbage should be removed. The city's streets and alleys and premises, public and private, should be looked after. The season is at hand, and so important a matter as the public health and comfort should not be neglected.

THE wardens of the two state prisons believe the general assembly made a mistake in enacting a law which requires that discharged convicts shall be returned to the county from which they were sentenced and shall be set free by the sheriff of the county. Warden French, of the state prison north, does not believe the law will be satisfactory for the reason that so many of the convicts are sentenced from counties in which they are strangers He also says that some prisoners do not wish to be taken back to the scene of their crime. There is generally a disposition, he believes, to get away from the associations of the days that brought trouble.

Uniforming the Boys.

Half a dozen years from now the 117,533 officers and men of the United States national guard will be much more soldierly and efficient as to drill than they are at present. The reason is by that time their ranks will be made up largely of brave and bright boys who learned the military drill in school. Certainly 100,000 boys in the public and private schools of the country are now practicing the military drill as an athletic exercise, and they could practice nothing better.

Some tender hearted souls fear that the military drill in public schools will foster the spirit of hate and bloodshed among the boys. They might as well say that the two buttons on the back of a man's coat at the waist foster the spirit of war and bloodshed, because those two buttons were formerly used to support a man's sword belt and have survived down to our day. The habit of order, discipline and prompt obedience as well as the invaluable results physically are testified to wherever the drill has been tried any length of time.

There is one difficulty, and that is the expense of uniforming the young cadets. Undoubtedly this is more than many parents can bear. At the same time it breaks the heart and spirit of a boy in a way not pleasant to contemplate to find that he cannot join his comrades because of his poverty in dress. Some provision outside ought to be made for the boys' uniform. The teachers ought to see to it in a quiet way that the uniform is provided without wounding the delicacy of either child or parent. In every community are rich American citizens who would contribute a trifle for this purpose, or a school might give an entertainment whereby the funds could be raised.

The Railroad Revolution.

Significant of one of the greatest industrial changes in the past 50 years was the recent appearance before the railroad committee of the Connecticut legislature of a delegation from the New York, New Haven and Hartford railway and the New York and New England railway. The representatives of these long distance steam roads appeared before the committee to protest against the granting of any more charters to trolley roads on lines paralleling their own.

They said the cheap and convenient little trolley was destroying their traffic between stations. They gave figures showing the injury that had been wrought by the construction of trolley lines. Between Danbury and Bethel the steam roads had lost 75 per cent of all their business. Between Naugatuck and Waterbury they were losing $300 a month. From Meriden to Valesville 90 per cent of their former passenger trade had gone to the trolley. These are only a few of the instances they cited.

This is very unfortunate for the steam railroads that have already encountered such serious losses during the past year. But it will do them no good to try to stop the trolley lines. The only possible relief for them is to form companies of their own and build the trolley themselves, thus forestalling the rivalry.

The United States agricultural department has distributed through congressmen 600,000 of the farmers' bulletins prepared by men who understand scientific soil culture and live stock breeding. It is not worth while to sneer at these bulletins. In the present depressed state of agriculture every aid to the farmer ought to be welcomed, and these bulletins certainly contain much information that is valuable to him. If the farmer had more wealth and political influence, the same sneerers would commend in high terms all that is done for him. The bulletins on live stock feeding and the dairy industry are among those that will help him to better his condition, if he heeds the information contained in them.

The workings of that law passed by the Illinois legislature to "rescue the municipal government of Chicago from the partisan spoils system" will be watched with interest. If it can rescue Chicago, it can rescue anything, even a member of congress who has fallen from the path of virtue

It is agreeable to find that one railroad in the United States not only paid taxes, expenses and a small dividend on its preferred stock, but actually had a surplus of $8,571 at the close of 1894. It is the Columbus, Hocking Valley and Toledo road

At the Berry street M. E church last evening the Beulah chapter, Epworth league, tendered Rev and Mrs. M. S Marble a farewell reception, and the large number of guests in attendance showed the high esteem in which the pastor and his wife are held by their people. All the arrangements for the reception, which proved a most enjoyable affair, were carried forward by the little folks and to them is due much credit. A literary and musical program, under the direction of Miss Edith Albers, president of the chapter, was rendered the early part of the evening and later refreshments were served. At the conclusion of the regular program, the Berry street chapter, Epworth league, took occasion to present to Mr. and Mrs. Marble a handsome onyx stand and lamp. In response to the presentation, Mr. Marble spoke very feelingly of the work of the past three years, of the friendship made in that time, and of the work to come, closing with a parting admonition for the young people to stand by their new minister as they had stood by him. Mrs. Marble also spoke briefly expressing her esteem for the people with whom her lot, for the past three years, has been cast. Dr. and Mrs. G. N. Eldridge, late of Wayne street church, were present, and each spoke briefly of their work in Fort Wayne, and the happy hours they have passed here.

According to the complaint, the courtship dates back to 1881. As the years passed they were betrothed, but the marriage was postponed from time to time until February, 1894, when the defendant flatly refused to proceed any further. Mr. Duke says of the suit that it is a matter to be settled in court. "If I have in any way wronged this young woman, and I most heartily insist that I have not, the law will, doubtless, do her justice."

'Now, Gen'ral, you're posted; come give us your views.
In a brush at the front what's the powder to use?"

And slowly replied, "In a brush at the front

KING SOLOMON'S MINES.

A Well Known Californian Engineer Has Gone In Search of Them.

William P St. Auburn, the well known California mining engineer and manager and one of the owners of the Niagara mine, has gone to South Africa to hunt for the lost mine of King Solomon.

"I am going for Sir Cecil Rhodes, the premier of South Africa, and his associates," he said. "John Hays Hammond wrote me a year ago, wanting me to go, but I couldn't get away then. Since he has renewed the proposition, urging me to come on, and I have decided to do it. I am going up into Mashonaland. That is where the very old mines of Africa are, among which are supposed to be the Ophir and others, which were worked in the time of Solomon.

"I am taking my Bible along," he added smilingly, "and will post myself as well as I can regarding them, and I am also going to review Rider Haggard's book, 'King Solomon's Mines,' which I understand is quite reliable. From this, however, the impression should not be gained that I am going to prospect, as miners do in a new region. The mines are known to exist. I shall merely examine them as an engineer and give my opinion as to which are best to work. Mashonaland has many of these mines. The old workings can be seen in many places.

"I read a letter from Charles J. Clarke, dated at Buluwayo, in Matabeleland, the adjoining province to Mashonaland, in which he says that it is very lively all through that country. He went to Buluwayo about a year ago, when it had but two houses. Now there are 2,000 white men there."

A TEXAS STEER.

Judge Culberson of Texas Is a True Son of His Native State.

If a new international monetary conference be called, one of the delegates thereto chosen by the late congress will create somewhat of a sensation in Paris, Berlin, Brussels or wherever the conference may be held. Congressman Culberson of Texas is a character. He has a method of speech and a manner of dress all his own. He buys his clothing ready made and always contrives to select garments which could not by any possibility be made to fit him. He wears a turned down collar and an old fashioned black cravat. He loves to sit with his chin nestling in his shirt bosom, and the latter, owing to an overenergetic tobacco chewing habit, is not always immaculate. In conversation Judge Culberson is a true southwesterner. He has no scruples about saying "I done" and "I seen it." "A heap" is one of his favorite expressions, and he invariably says "catched" instead of caught. He loves to speak of "Injuns," and his discourse is full of quaint and homely similes and by words. Notwithstanding these peculiarities he is a man of great ability, though not of great energy. He is as lazy as he is careless, but when roused he is both learned and witty enough to enable him to take care of himself in any company. If any of the foreign delegates or attaches attempt to have fun with this homely but brainy southwestern statesman, they will be sure to uncover a Tartar.—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Railroad Man Cured.

Mr. Tom E. Kline, an engineer, forty years of age, residing at 630 East Ohio street, Indianapolis, Ind., who has run an engine for two years on the Wabash road, and thirteen years on the Monon road, much of that time having been the engineer on the fast newspaper train has, for the past ten years, suffered from indigestion in its worst form He had a continual heavy feeling in his stomach, so that he had to lie in bed to ease his pain. This indigestion caused chronic diarrhœa and sleeplessness He had to be very careful as to his diet, and could only eat as simple a food as potatoes sparingly. He took four boxes of LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS, and now he can eat anything. His digestion is perfect; he can sleep well, and he gives it as his opinion that the medicine does everything that is claimed for it. He heartily recommends it to all persons suffering from indigestion or any stomach disorder.

VENO AND THE G. A. R.

W. J. Kerstetter, of the Soldiers' Home Dayton, O., Cured by Veno Remedies.

After Four Years' Suffering—Attended by Many Physicians Without Relief—He is Entirely Cured by Veno Remedies.

W. J. Kerstetter, late secretary Soldier Home, was a terrible sufferer for four years from dyspepsia, nervousness and liver troubles, and was a confirmed invalid, more or less, for that length of time. Many efforts had been made to cure him, but all proved unavailing until Veno's Remedies were taken. He writes as follows:

"I have taken Veno's Curative Syrup and feel better than I have for four years. If I had taken these remedies in time I would not have been an invalid." The same is said by thousands of others all over America.

The Veno remedies are medical triumphs compounded from formulas secured in Europe and are different from anything ever offered here

The Grand Rapids Re-elects its Corps of Officials.

The General Electric and Westinghouse Companies Form a Combination—Affairs of the Shop.

The stockholders of the Cincinnati, Richmond and Fort Wayne railway met in Richmond yesterday, there being 25,216 shares of stock represented. The following officers were elected:

Vice President—C. C. Binkley, of Richmond.

Secretary and Treasurer—F. A. Gorham, of Grand Rapids.

ELECTRICAL COMBINE.

The General Electric company and the Westinghouse people have practically pooled their patents, the deal being consummated yesterday. Under the arrangement each company will have the right to manufacture under the other's patents. The companies will contribute a certain percentage of their earnings to a common fund to be used in defending their patents against infringements by other companies. Such part of the fund as is not used will be returned to the companies at intervals in proportion to their contributions. The litigation between the General Electric and the Westinghouse companies heretofore has entailed on them an expense of $1,000,000 a year.

The timepiece has not yet been recovered.

Foreman Dunfee, of the Olds Wagon works, had his arm injured in a runaway yesterday forenoon near the Pittsburg depot. His horse was frightened by a locomotive as he was driving up Clinton street, toward the railroad, and turned suddenly, hurling him to the ground. The buggy was completely demolished and the horse was not caught until several hours afterwards in the east end.

They have issued a schedule showing a cut in prices for refrigerator cars from California to eastern points of from $35 to $90 under the rates of the old companies, being a cut of from 30 to 50 per cent. NIGHT HORROR.

found near where Rigot was lying. The body was identified as that of James Edwards, an employe of a fish stand in the market. Edwards had been seen five minutes before the explosion and the fact that his body was found in the ruins was a surprise. It was subsequently ascertained that he had entered the saloon a few minutes previous to the explosion with a basket of shrimps.

A WHOLE FAMILY RESCUED.

At 9 o'clock the workmen, while walking around the ruins, heard a whining noise, and, upon raising some heavy timbers, found a black-and-tan nursing several puppies. All of the animals were alive and when rescued seemed to realize their situation Three hundred dollars and a quantity of jewelry have also been recovered.

PROBABLY THE WORK OF ITALIANS.

While the police are inclined to believe that the explosion was the result of an accident, a number of people residing in the vicinity of the wrecked building are of an entirely different opinion. They state openly that the explosion was an attempt to kill the man Boulet, who had such a miraculous escape. Boulet is a Frenchman, who two years ago shot and killed one of the wealthiest Italians doing business in the vicinity of the French market. This man was Aristide Balestrici, who ran a barroom in the neighborhood as well as a fish and game stand in the market. Boulet and Balestrici were at one time good friends. They were in the saloon business together.

BOULET KILLS BALESTRICI.

Boulet's wife came between them and not only broke up the business arrangements, but caused a deadly enmity between the two men. The woman contracted a liason with Balestrici, which, upon reaching the ears of Boulet, caused him to leave his wife Balestrici would frequently taunt Boulet with his dishonor, but was always surrounded by friends when doing so. The Italia also threatened to kill the Frenchman and those who were well acquainted with the men expected a tragedy at any time. It came about two years ago. The men met in the French market and after having words, Balestrici, who was carrying a cane, drew from its sheath a large sword, with which he attacked Boulet The latter drew a revolver, fired and killed the Italian. The trial resulted in Boulet's acquittal.

Ever since then Boulet has been looked upon as a marked man. His friends tried to persuade him to leave the city or at least to stay away from the market, but he refused. Last night he occupied a room in the rear, on the second floor, and it is believed that the explosion was done for the simple purpose of killing him. That he escaped is looked upon as a miracle. Balestrici was a leader in the Italian colony. He was a man of great influence and was just the sort of an individual to be at the head of a Mafia organization.

MUNYON.

His Wonderful Cures Win the Confidence of the Public.

986 Bottles of His Remedies Sold by Druggists Yesterday—The Professor Talks on Coughs and Colds.

Prof. Munyon, in the course of conversation, remarked: The weather has been very changeable during the past two days and thousands of people in this city are prostrated with colds.

Many of them, no doubt, will think—only a cold. Truly a little thing to make a fuss about But did you ever stop to consider that a cold is the beginning of most diseases? It is the starting point of pneumonia, rheumatism, neuralgia, catarrh, kidney troubles and numerous other diseases. Speak of a cold and you should finish thus:

Colds, catarrh, coughs, bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption. Many long periods of sickness could be prevented by prompt attention to a cold. Munyon's Cold Cure is within reach of all, costs but 25c and is guaranteed to break up any form of a cold in a few hours and will positively prevent pneumonia. A cough, continued the professor, is a wise design of the Creator to warn us back from the grave. It shows us that the bronchial tubes are becoming diseased and that bronchitis is beginning. From bronchitis to consumption is but a step.

I do not pretend that we can effect a cure where they are tubercles on the lungs or where the patient is in the last stage of consumption, but do emphatically say that MUNYON'S COUGH CURE will reduce inflammation of the air tubes and check at once diseases of the lungs, acting marvelously as a soothing and healing balm upon the parts affected.

It is a positive cure for every form of cough where the lungs are not covered by tubercles.

TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS

spent in advertising could not have created such a demand for any medicine. But the fact that out of 5,000 trial bottles given away only thirty-seven persons have reported no benefit received and 871 cured or greatly relieved compels the most skeptical to acknowledge the efficacy of Munyon's new method in treating disease. Remember, this company puts up a cure for every disease just as positive in its action as the rheumatism remedy and sold by all druggists for 25 cents.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Munyon's rheumatism cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism can be cured in from one to five days. It speedily cures shooting pains, sciatica, lumbago and all rheumatic pains in the back, hips and loins It seldom fails to give relief after one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used. Price, 25c.

STOMACH AND DYSPEPSIA CURE.

Munyon's Stomach and Dyspepsia Cure cures all forms of indigestion and stomach trouble, such as rising food, distress after eating, shortness of breath and all affections of the heart caused by indigestion, wind on the stomach, bad taste, offensive breath, loss of appetite, faintness or weakness of stomach, headache from indigestion, soreness of the stomach, coated tongue, heartburn, shooting pains of the stomach, constipation, dizziness, faintness and lack of energy. Price, 25c,

NIGHT HORROR.

A House Destroyed by Explosives.

Five Bodies Taken From the Ruins,

And Ten or Fifteen More to Hear From

The Deadly Deed the Work of the Malin.

The New Orleans Levee, the Scene of So Many Tragedies, Is the Scene of This One.

NEW ORLEANS, April 5.—A terrible explosion occurred at the corner of Decatur and Ursuline streets this morning about 2 o'clock. The ship chandler's store of Charles J. Salathe and the adjoining saloon, the Fishermen's Exchange, conducted by Charles Salathe, were completely demolished. The broke out immediately following the explosion. It occurred in the ship chandler's store, in which a quantity of powder and shot have always been kept on hand. The front and side walls of the two buildings were entirely blown down, but the rear partitions were left standing, showing that the explosion had occurred in the front part of the building. The number of dead is not known. At least half a dozen were sleeping in the buildings at the time, and are buried beneath the debris, and it is feared that they have been either crushed to death or will be burned to a crisp before the firemen rescue them.

At the hour of the explosion the street in front was beginning to fill up with market people. A number of wagons were on Decatur street and the sidewalks and in the markets small knots of men were getting out their goods and trading for their daily supplies. Their trading was cut short by a muffled sound that came from across the street and as they instinctively turned, expecting an explosion, the walls lifted and came down with a crash on all sides. The force of the explosion was terrible. Drivers were hurled from the vehicles and the wares on the market stands were blown to the four winds.

The explosion, as near as the market people could judge, occurred about two minutes after 2 o'clock. It was Salathe's grocery and barroom, a two-story building two doors from the corner. Salathe and his wife and one child are supposed to have been killed. His bedroom was directly over the powder and he has not been seen since. One of his children emerged from the ruins in his night clothes after the engines had been at work on the flames about five minutes, to the great surprise of every one.

Twelve people are known to be buried under the ruins of the two buildings.

The explosion was caused by powder stored in the grocery which was blown to pieces. The French market was just being opened and the man who sell fish and other food were unloading their wagons. Some of them had gone into the saloon to drink and the bartender, Felix Rego, and five or six people who were drinking there are under the debris. Splinters, bricks, pieces of timbers and other material were scattered on the market, damaging that and the windows of Sarrain's tobacco factory adjoining.

More than six men who were in the streets were slightly injured by flying particles. Emile Boulet, the owner of the barroom, had stepped across the street for a moment and was in the market when the explosion occurred thus saving his own life. There were sleeping apartments over the barroom, in which a number of people were supposed to be resting for the night, as it was a sort of lodging house.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. The owner of the grocery store where it occurred was Charles P. Salathe. He kept a large quantity of powder, which he sold to fishermen and hunters.

Charles Salathe, the grocery man, was lost in the ruins, together with his wife, a ten months-old baby, three servants, a clerk and an orphan boy. Two of the children of the grocer were miraculously saved. One, a little girl named Ella, was found in the debris in a different section of the ruins from her brother, Eddie. Both children were slightly scratched. They were not buried under the ruins, although they were sleeping in different parts of the building. Ed ha was in a back room, while his mother, father and the little one were sleeping in the room in front. No sounds could be heard of the unburied under the debris and the supposition is that they are dead.

The estimated number of dead is fifteen. Charles Reeves, of Rampart and Lafayette streets, a colored man, was seriously wounded by falling timbers and was carried to the hospital in an ambulance. Bill e (not Billy) Salathe was pulled out from between some timbers by John Barnewell.

The frantic cries of crushed women and children and the breathless agony of men who surrounded the frightful scene beggars description. People ran to and fro, so much out of their wits that they could not give intelligent answers to queries. The following are the names of the missing so far as obtained: Joseph Granada, Mike Doel, Felix Regard. At 4:15 o'clock the bodies of Salathe and his wife were recovered. The parish prisoners were sent to the scene to aid in clearing away the debris.

DOCTOR'S THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

One of the survivors was Mr. L. H. Boulet. He tells his experience amid falling walls and living bodies as follows. "I was asleep on the second story of the saloon, in the corner room. I was awakened by the falling debris. At first I thought it was a dream, but I soon found that it was not, when I saw that I could not move. I lay still for what seemed to me a long time. When I heard some one crying, 'Oh, my God, my children,' I did not know what had happened. I could hear people talking, but I could not make myself heard. Several times I called out as loud as I could while I was lying trying to think what it was that had happened. It was dark, and I could not see anything. I knew that it was the ceiling that had fallen, and that was all. After a while I tried to move and found that by cramping myself into as small space as possible I could breath easier. Then I heard someone walking over me. He turned to be a friend of mine named Willie Morse. When he heard me he told me not to be afraid, but to keep quiet and that he would get me out in a short time. Then he went away, but soon came back with some friends and they started digging a hole over me. They worked fast and it did not take long to make a large enough hole to pull me through. I do not remember much more for the strain was so great that I was almost unconscious when they got me out and brought me over to this saloon. I am not hurt except a few scratches. I know that Mr. Salathe kept some powder on hand in his store, but I don't know how much. I cannot imagine how the powder came to explode. Some people say it was not powder that exploded, but I do not know of anything else in the building that could have caused the wreck. I am certain that I was the only person on the second floor of the saloon. I do not know how many persons were sleeping in the second floor of the grocery. Down stairs in the saloon was Felix Rigaud, the barkeeper, and he is buried in the ruins. I think that this body will be found in the front part of the house.—I believe that there are are a number of persons buried in the ruins of the saloon, because it is the custom of a great many to come into the saloon at about 12 o'clock and sleep there. I have seen as many as ten and fifteen there at one time. There is no telling how many persons are killed and no one will know until after the ruins are thoroughly searched."

Mr. Boulet considers his experience as a great event. He was minus his shoes and was dressed in a flannel shirt and trousers. His face and shirt were full of fine dust and on the back of one of his hands was a scratch about two inches long, which were the only perceptible marks of injury. Emile Chatard, a negro boy, who was driving a wagon, had a narrow escape, and chivered as he related it. He was on Decatur street and had stopped his horse almost immediately in front of the saloon while he went in and got a match from the barkeeper. He had just received the match from the hands of the barkeeper and was walking back towards his horse when the building was blown up. He was frightened and his first impulse was to jump on his wagon and drive his horse off, which he did, requiring no urging. Fortunately for the negro the walls which were blown outward on Decatur street did not reach to where his horse and wagon stood, or he certainly would have been injured or killed, together with his horse. As it was when the walls came down the horse was frightened and ran off some distance. The boy looked back at the house and saw a terrible sight. The flames were blazing up and issuing from the house, and debris of every kind was scattered all over the vicinity. Hundreds of ends that were piled up in the grocery store were scattered about on the sidewalks and street.

TO THE RESCUE

The explosion was distinctly heard at the diocesan house, only a few blocks away, and Archbishop Janssens and his household hastened to the scene to render what assistance they could. Salathe's place was known as the "Fishermen's Exchange," and was rich in memories of the Chesapeake-Cuba storm. It was Carre Gut room of the rescued made their headquarters when they were brought to the city, and it was a very popular resort of the fishing people.

TWO BODIES RECOVERED

At 4 o'clock this morning two bodies were recovered. They were identified as those of Charles Salathe and his wife.

At daylight this morning the work of removing the ruins began. Crowds of people hung around the spot and the police were compelled to use force to keep them away.

WORK FOUND TOUGH OUT

About 8 o'clock the workmen came across the mangled body of Felix Rigaud, the barkeeper. He was under a pile of timber in the front part of the saloon. He was dead when taken out.

The private safe of Charles Salathe was found in the ruins of the grocery store. It was opened and found to contain $1,000 in gold and silver and $2,000 in bills. The safe was not damaged by the explosion.

OSCAR WEAKENS.

Withdraws His Suit Against the Marquis of Queensberry.

Thereby Virtually Admitting the Truth of the Defendant's Statements—Will Not Be Arrested.

LONDON, April 5.—The suit of Oscar Wilde against the Marquis of Queensberry came to a sudden and unexpected termination today shortly after the third day's proceedings, which were begun in the Old Bailey before Justice Collins. Edward Clarke, leading counsel for the plaintiff asked permission on behalf of his client to withdraw the suit and submit to a verdict of not guilty in regard to the words "posing as a — —" written by the Marquis of Queensberry at the Albemarle club, for Wilde, on February 18, and which formed the outward basis of the suit. The jury, under instructions from Justice Collins, returned a verdict of not guilty, coupled with the statement that the justification set up as a defense by the Marquis of Queensberry was true in substance and in fact the statement complained of was published for the public good. The verdict was received with loud applause which was not checked by the presiding justice, and the Marquis of Queensberry was discharged from custody and left the court triumphant, smiling and surrounded by his friends. Shortly afterwards it was announced that a warrant for the arrest of Oscar Wilde was to be applied for, all the papers in the case having been submitted to the public prosecutor.

BUCYRUS, April 5—Jackson Roush, an old citizen, hanged himself in his barn about 6 o'clock this morning, and his body was not discovered until life was extinct. About a year ago Roush was arrested upon a charge of poisoning a girl in the attempt to commit abortion. He was tried in the Adams circuit court and acquitted, but he never could forget the stain upon his character and brooded over the matter until he became despondent and then committed suicide. He was about fifty-eight years old.

The boat was badly shattered, but no lives were lost. Fourteen men have taken the places of old miners in Williams' mine and serious trouble is feared. Forbes fired on the dynamiters, but they escaped. There was a woman and two children on the wrecked boat. The situation is getting desperate in Minersville.

Head While Holding the Reins.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., April 5—Mrs. John Grarer, residing on the west side of the Wabash river, went to Battle Ground, Tuesday, called by the illness of a friend. She started home in a buggy, in apparent good health. Two miles distant from the city the vehicle in which she was seated met a team, the wagon of which was loaded with hay. Mrs. Grarer horse turned out but ran the vehicle so far from the road as to overturn it. A physician rode to the assistance of Mrs. Grarer, but was horrified to find that she was dead. He gave it as his opinion, however, that she had been dead for fifteen or twenty minutes before the accident, and that she died in her buggy while driving along the highway, and that the horse impended by the reins, overturned the vehicle. The woman was sixty-eight years old.

FOUR TRAMPS KILLED.

They Were Stealing a Ride on an Akron Train.

Thirteen Cars Piled One Upon the Other and the Unfortunate Men Beneath the Debris.

AKRON, Ill., April 5—In a freight wreck on the Chicago and Akron cut-off, at Woodriver bridge, a half mile north of East Akron, this morning four men were killed outright and two were fatally injured.

A long heavy freight train was coming down the grade when the middle of the train lodged and fifteen cars were piled on top of each other. None of the four victims are known but are supposed to be tramps who were stealing a ride. The injured men were brought to the hospital in this city. An inquest over the remains of the dead was held at East Akron. Only two of them have been identified. They are

David Holley, of Watertown, Wis.
Frank Harcman, of Philadelphia.

Fourteen were injured more or less seriously. Their names are:

Charles Custard, Linn, Ohio
Otto Schneider, Argentine, Kas.
Theodore Hunt, St. Paul, Minn
Thomas Cope, St. Louis, Mo.
Harry Williams, Toledo, Ohio.
M. Hickens, Chicago.
W. W. Willetts, Dallas, Texas.
Ed. Globalsheyst, Germany.
Harry Glass, Chicago
James Hart, no home.
James Martin, Fall River, Mass.
John Howard, Cincinnati.
Robert Selt, New York.
Winfred Garrison, Martinsville, Mo.

The train was local was south-bound freight and all who were killed or injured are tramps. The wreck was caused by the train being too heavily loaded behind, and when the brakes were put on the front ears the weight behind was thrown onto a flat car in the middle of the train, crushing it to atoms and wrecking the other cars.

The establishment will be located at her South Calhoun street home and she will start with a force of twenty ladies.

Yesterday she purchased ten of the latest pattern Singer sewing machines and will be ready to start business in a few days. She expects to increase her working force and before the close of this year may employ double the number.

FOUR KILLED.

Fatal Accident on the B., Z. and C. Railroad.

A Trestle Gives Way, Allowing the Cars to Arrop to the Bottom of the River.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, April 5—Four persons were killed outright and a fifth fatally injured in a wreck of the Baltimore, Zanesville and Cincinnati narrow gauge at a trestle, about 7 miles east of Summerfield, this morning. A coach jumped the track as the train was approaching the trestle, which is situated on a curve. The coach ran on the ties half way across and then the engine also left the rails, carrying down five bents of the trestle to the ravine below.

THE WRECK IS DETAILED

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 5—A special to the Dispatch from Summerfield, Ohio, says the morning passenger train, No. 439, on the Bellaire, Zanesville and Cincinnati railway, consisting of an engine baggage car and passenger coach, left here on time and moved along nicely until the train reached trestle No 98, near Whigville when the coach jumped the track and ran a considerable distance into the trestle when it turned over, drawing the engine and baggage car down with the trestle. The engine turned end for end and the coach turned bottom up with its sides crushed in.

There were four killed outright, as follows:

Bill Lucas, engineer, Summerfield, O.
Henry Brown, passenger, Readsville, Ohio.
Mrs. Nathan Young and little daughter, Summerfield, Ohio.

THE INJURED

Jesse Jones, fatally injured, Summerfield, Ohio
Nathan Young, fatally injured, Summerfield, Ohio.
Joseph Fenson, seriously injured, Barnesville, Ohio
Frank Holland, baggagemaster, leg broken, Summerfield, Ohio.

The fireman, Jesse Jones, was pinioned beneath the overturned engine and was badly cut and scalded when found. He cannot live.

Nathan Young was rescued from the coach, but he cannot live. No examination was made of his injuries, as he is in a precarious condition.

The four killed in the wreck were killed outright. The engine and cars are a total wreck, as is also the trestle. The trestle over which the train overturned was about forty feet high.

MIDNIGHT TRIAL.

Justice Bohen Hears a Case Against a Theatrical Manager.

Jesse Farey Is Sent to Jail—A Divorce Asked for—Jury Case Before Judge Dawson.

Justice M. F. Bohen was aroused from his peaceful slumbers at midnight last night to go to his office, where he issued warrants to capias Edwin Warner, the manager of Hanlon's Superbs, which gave performances at the Masonic Temple last night and the night before, for debts owing by the company to Charles Eckart, Frank Schafer, John Mooney and Julius Haibenstein, "supers" from this city, who assisted in the production of the play here.

The boys brought suit for two nights service, amounting to fifty cents each, and their combined bills aggregated $7. They had demanded this amount from the manager, but he refused to pay it, claiming that he had paid it to some one of the persons in charge of the stage. The officers arrested the manager and took him before Justice Bohen at 1 o'clock, when the case was heard. The boys were given judgment for the amount of their bills and the manager paid it, with the costs, which amounted to over $11.

Judge S. M. Hench, as attorney for Charles Rader, has brought suit asking that his client may be given a divorce from Muriel Rader.

The case of the McIntosh Manufacturing company against E. Shuman is on trial to a jury in Judge Dawson's court.

Judge Lowry has returned from Auburn, where he was attending to some cases in the circuit court.

Jesse Forsyth, who was arrested for petit larceny at Dunlap, was sent to jail by Judge O'Rourke for thirty days.

The charge against Mary Barnhart, for conducting a house of ill fame, was dismissed in the circuit court.

THE ELKHART MAN

Last Heard of Was Arrested in Stockton in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 5—Carl Beardsley, son of Charles Beardsley, of Elkhart, Ind., who disappeared mysteriously from the Michigan university at Ann Arbor last fall, is engaged in business in San Francisco, and does not evince any interest whatever in his Alma Mater or any other incident in his school days or home life. Mr. Beardsley has formed a partnership with Lee L. Coe, and is now engaged in the somewhat novel and incongruous occupation of cleaning wall paper. Mr. Coe is also a popular member of the local Y. M. C. A., which he joined upon his arrival in this city. Mr. Beardsley said: "My reason for leaving the university was simply that I lost interest in my studies and was determined to try my luck with the world. I first went east and traveled in search of a healthier climate and business opportunities."

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

Mrs. Catharine Bughee Succumbs to Heart Disease.

She Was Well and Happy Last Evening, But by 11 O'clock Was a Corpse.

Mrs Catherine Bughee wife of John Bughee living at the corner of Ewing and Pillsbury streets in Lindenau's addition died suddenly of heart disease at 11 o'clock last night.

Mrs. Bughee was apparently as well as ever yesterday and retired at 11 o'clock as usual. A few moments later she was taken very ill and Dr. George H. Stonen was hastily sent for. The doctor arrived too late, however, as Mrs. Bughee was beyond all medical aid. She was fifty eight years of age and, besides her husband, leaves two children. The deceased was a faithful Christian lady, being a devoted and hard-working member of St. Paul's M. E. church. Her husband is employed on the Pittsburg railway.

Coroner Harrod was called about midnight and after examining into all the details, pronounced the cause of Mrs. Bughee's death to be heart disease. He will render a verdict to that effect.

No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral.

FUNERAL.

JOHN O. SEYS

Proves Himself a Pugnacious Reporter at Chicago.

He Has Designs for News During a Riot He Endeavors Blows With a Street Car Superintendent.

John O. Seys, formerly city editor of the Journal in this city, but now a reporter on the evening paper in Chicago, is getting into prominence at the metropolis. The morning edition of the Times-Herald gives an account of a riot which occurred there yesterday during the war between the street car lines.

Acting under the orders of Superintendent Rower, a hundred employes of the Chicago City Railway company ran a street car of the Cicero and Blue Island railway company yesterday morning, and in fifteen minutes reduced it to kindling wood. Three hundred spectators shouted disapproval of the action, and but for the efforts of Lawrence McGann, of the company whose car was wrecked, would have assaulted the wreckers. Several individuals, among them Seys, but before the fighting became general a patrol wagon full of police men rolled up. These added to the indignation, as the crowd interpreted their arrival as in aid of the wreckers but the efforts of Mr McGann soon quelled the more turbulent.

The incident to which Reporter Seys figured is thus told by the Times Herald: "The policeman on the beat tried to stop the work of destruction, but Mr. McGann told him to attempt no arrests. He went away to telephone for assistance. The crowd was shouting its disapproval during the work of destruction and one of the special detectives of the aggressive company stepped over to the sidewalk to silence them. He was given a thump that landed him in the street. John O. Seys, a reporter for an evening paper, stepped up to Superintendent Rower with a question and was answered with a blow. The superintendent is a large man and the reporter a small one, but Seys struck back, landing on the superintendent's jaw. At the same instant a bystander struck the superintendent a glancing blow on the head with a 'black jack.'

"Mr. McGann prevented the further continuance of these disturbances, and by his efforts a riot was prevented. He was everywhere urging peace and no demonstration, and as the police rolled up Mr. McGann said: "It's all right, boys, make no arrests. There will be no trouble." The police were disposed to arrest the pugnacious little Seys, who was inviting Superintendent Rower to step out of the crowd of his employes and receive the drubbing which Seys promised him."

LINCOLN MEMORIAL.

The Memory of Our Martyred President to be Honored.

A Fine Program Arranged for the Occasion by Secretary McConnaughey of the City Y. M. C. A.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the management of the City Y. M. C. A. for the proper observance of Lincoln Memorial day, which occurs on Sunday, April 14.

Thirty years ago on this day Abraham Lincoln, the greatest figure in the history of the United States, was shot down by the cowardly bullet of an assassin in Ford's Theater, Washington. Every year since that calamity, upon this date, the American people have been moved by a common impulse to observe the day, and this year the custom will become almost universal.

The program is already out for the exercises and is as follows:

Overture.....Y. M. C. A. Orchestra
Song—America.....Audience
Prayer.....
Solo and chorus—"The Battle Hymn of the Republic".....Harold Sinclair
Address.....Rev. J. S. Applin
Closing verse (Miller).....Audience
Benediction.....

All the military organizations of the city have been invited to attend in uniform and many have accepted the invitation. Among those who will be present at the Y. M. C. A. will be the G. A. R. posts, Sons of Veterans, P. O. S. of A. and the state military companies.

Extra preparations have been made for music and the association's orchestra has been greatly strengthened for the occasion.

W. A. SPIEGEL

Fort Wayne Man Starting a New Industry at Cleveland.

In Wednesday's issue of the World, of Cleveland, Ohio, we find this as of local interest. "New enterprises are coming to Cleveland almost daily, one of the latest and what promises to be an important industry, but which The World is not prepared to divulge today, is being promoted by Mr. W. A. Spiegel of Fort Wayne, Ind., a young and prominent business man of that city. Mr. Spiegel has been in the city for some days and it is understood that he has a large syndicate of capitalists at his back. He brings letters of introduction to many prominent citizens of Cleveland although he scarcely needs them as he has a large acquaintance here, especially in the piano trade. Tally another great enterprise for Cleveland."

On account of the presence of diphtheria at the School for Feeble Minded Youth, Superintendent Johnson has decided to be quarantine at the institution until none of the inmates or employes have been the recipients of cases to be prevented. The farmer is now being managed nicely. There have been no deaths from it for several weeks. There are now twenty cases of diphtheria at the institution, but the physicians in charge have them under control and it is not thought there will be any more as of the last case.

DESPERATE SUICIDE.

Daniel H. Foulks Makes His Own Death Doubly Sure.

With a Rope Around His Neck He Puts Three Bullets in His Brain—Police Inquest.

The East Palestine, Ohio, Review has the following to say of the suicide of Squire Daniel H. Foulks, an uncle of Policeman Albert Foulks, of this city, and brother of Charles Foulks, of Sheldon. Another nephew, George, also resides in this city, on Baker street:

"About 10 o'clock last Saturday morning Squire Daniel H. Foulks, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Columbiana county, committed suicide by hanging himself in his corn crib and also putting three bullets through his brain. The squire has long been a sufferer from muscular rheumatism and of late the disease was getting worse. He was unmarried and lived on his farm of 160 acres near Calcutta, Ohio. His sister died last year and left him alone, but he kept house for himself, living with the hired man. The squire was in East Liverpool the day before and met many old friends and seemed to be as well as usual. But in the evening he went home, not feeling well, and probably the fear of a return of his malady led him to commit the rash act. The hired man missed him the next morning, and after hunting for some time found him dead, hanging by a rope, and with his feet touching the floor. Near his feet lay an old revolver, which he had used with such deadly effect. With help the body was cut down and carried to the house, where an inquest was held in the afternoon. The deceased was sixty-five years of age."

Squire Foulks was well known in this city and county, having often visited here. He was also a warm personal friend of Dr. J. W. Younge. His brother, Charles, is now lying at the point of death at his home in Sheldon.

POLICE JOTTINGS.

Officer Foulks was called to Sheldon yesterday afternoon by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his father.

The police have a valuable overcoat at the city hall, which is awaiting identification by its owner. One of the street car men found it the other day tucked under the seat of an old wagon back of the street car barn. It was evidently placed there by some overcoat thief.

Miss Delight Oswalt, claiming Fort Wayne as her home, is in jail in Frankfort, charged with stealing silverware and bed clothing. Several persons of this name have been seen, but none of them profess to know the young lady.

Officer Flickinger has reported for duty. He has not been working for some days on account of the illness of his wife.

The new belts recently ordered for the police will be sent back to the Chicago firm of whom they were purchased. Mr. Possington, of the board of safety, says they are not the belts which he ordered, the quality being inferior. The new twenty-two inch clubs will, however, be kept.

Officer Tammis Dixon is taking sparring lessons of Professor Pitzlin and is said to be fast developing a blow which is warranted to bring an opponent down upon the first application. Officer Dixon is also the champion sprinter on the force.

Chief of Police John H. Haller, of Lima, Ohio, was in the city yesterday, the guest of his brother-in-law, Thomas Blair.

Thirteen tramps spent the night at police station. This is the smallest number for many weeks past.

This is pay day for the members of the force and most of the night men curtailed their morning rest in order to draw their salaries.

CASE DISMISSED.

The case against Christian Zollinger, charged with assaulting Earl Wilson, did not come to trial in the mayor's court. The prosecuting witness failed to show up at 9 o'clock and Zollinger was let go.

CRUELTY TO CHILDREN.

The humane officer is investigating a case of extreme cruelty to children, reported from Holman street. It is alleged that a woman on that street has two small children, a girl and boy, and that the little ones have been compelled by their unnatural mother to sleep in the barn, while she entertains company at the house. The little ones have often suffered terribly, so the neighbors say.

HER LETTER

TELLS A WOMANS STORY.

Written for Eyes of Other Women.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS]

There is inestimable pleasure in being good to others, and joy in a grateful recognition of the act.

On the old York Road, Huntington Park, Philadelphia, dwells Miss [illegible] Bowen, whose portrait we give. She declares that her cure was so related as a matter of knowledge, others, so [illegible] fully a wonderful medicine it is, and therefore no feelings [illegible] I took it. The pain in my back was almost [illegible], and shooting incrustations the nights I suffered [illegible] drove me wild; and then my head would ache for a week, and now this is all over, thanks to your good remedy. I trust my testimonial will lead others to take it and be cured. They can find it at any drug store. The druggist says the demand for it is very large; it is helping so many sickly women."

Evansville has elected a republican mayor.

Laporte county farmers say the wheat crop is frozen out.

Richmond will have a music festival, May 27, 28 and 29.

A suit has passed the Tennessee house limiting the rent on telephones in that state to not over $2 per month.

The streets are easily cleaned, but the most danger lies in filthy alleys and yards and the board of health should issue instructions, and enforce them, for a general cleaning up.

The people of Indiana will have no elections until November next year—nineteen months hence. Then they will have an election that will be an election, and a ticket about as long as that of November, 1894, as there will be state and county tickets to be elected.

A strange coincidence connected with the recent meeting of the north Indiana conference at Logansport was the fact that three ministers, Revs Boston, Gehring and Birch, who died during the last year, were pastors of the three M. E. churches of that city during the same year.

Quite an effort is being made by some newspapers to make it appear that Governor Matthews and Senator Voorhees are in collusion to do something or other of an extraordinary character. In the meantime both of these distinguished Indianians are attending to their official and personal affairs with their customary ability.

A story is going the rounds of the press about a farmer who went into a drug store and for the first time saw a phonograph. He was told to drop a nickel in the slot and hear the music. Farmer, doubting, dropped in a nickle, put the tubes to his ears, and, after listening a second, started for the door with the hasty exclamation: "Gosh all fish hooks! Here comes a brass band and I left them mules unhitched."

In various places in this state those in favor of the Moore temperance bill are canvassing to ascertain if votes enough can be secured to sign remonstrances against granting liquor licenses at the coming June term of commissioners court to prevent licenses from being issued. In Franklin, this state, in one ward having 300 voters, 200 voters have signed an agreement to remonstrate against all saloon keepers as soon as applications are filed. Good Citizens leagues are being organized in almost every county and their purpose will be to prevent the granting of liquor licenses.

An advertisement in a New York daily stated that "a one-legged man would learn of something to his advantage" by calling at a certain address. A curious individual called and met the advertiser, a man who had lost his right leg. He said: "I'll can find a man who has lost the other leg and wears the same size shoe that I do, we can whack up, and by buying our shoes together we would save considerable."

Cholera may not visit us this summer, but there are other diseases which an unclean condition of the streets and premises invites. There should be a thorough and general cleaning up this spring. The sanitary ordinances should be more than matters for spasmodic enforcement. Every vestige of garbage should be removed. The city's streets and alleys and premises, public and private, should be looked after. The season is at hand, and so important a matter as the public health and comfort should not be neglected.

The wardens of the two state prisons believe the general assembly made a mistake in enacting a law which requires that discharged convicts shall be returned to the county from which they were sentenced and shall be set free by the sheriff of the county. Warden French, of the state prison north, does not believe the law will be satisfactory for the reason that so many of the convicts are sentenced from counties in which they are strangers. He also says that some prisoners do not wish to be taken back to the scene of their crime. There is generally a disposition, he believes, to get away from the associations of the days that brought trouble.

Uniforming the Boys.

Half a dozen years from now the United States national guard will be much more soldierly and efficient as to drill than they are at present. The reason is by that time their ranks will be made up largely of brave and bright boys who learned the military drill in school. Certainly 100,000 boys in the public and private schools of the country are now practicing the military drill as an athletic exercise, and they could practice nothing better.

Some tender hearted souls fear that the military drill in public schools will foster the spirit of hate and bloodshed among the boys. They might as well say that the two buttons on the back of a man's coat at the waist foster the spirit of war and bloodshed, because those two buttons were formerly used to support a man's sword belt and have survived down to our day. The habit of order, discipline and prompt obedience as well as the invaluable results physically are resulted to wherever the drill has been tried any length of time.

There is no objection, and that is the expense of uniforming the young cadets. Undoubtedly this is more than many parents can bear. At the same time it breaks the heart and spirit of a boy in a way not pleasant to contemplate to find that he cannot join his comrades because of his poverty in dress. Some provision outside ought to be made for the boys' uniform. The teachers ought to see to it in a quiet way that the uniform is provided without wounding the delicacy of either child or parent. In every community are rich American citizens who would contribute a trifle for this purpose, or a school might give an entertainment whereby the funds could be raised.

The Railroad Revolution.

Significant of one of the greatest industrial changes in the past 10 years was the recent appearance before the railroad committee of the Connecticut legislature of a delegation from the New York, New Haven and Hartford railway and the New York and New England railway. The representatives of these long distance steam roads appeared before the committee to protest against the granting of any more charters to trolley roads on lines paralleling their own.

They said the cheap and convenient little trolley was destroying their traffic between stations. They gave figures showing the injury that had been wrought by the construction of trolley lines. Between Danbury and Bethel the steam roads had lost 75 per cent of all their business. Between Naugatuck and Waterbury they were losing $300 a month. From Meriden to Yalesville 90 per cent of their former passenger trade had gone to the trolley. These are only a few of the instances they cited.

This is very unfortunate for the steam railroads that have already encountered such serious losses during the past year. But it will do them no good to try to stop the trolley lines. The only possible relief for them is to form companies of their own and build the trolley themselves, thus forestalling the rivalry.

The United States agricultural department has distributed through congressmen 600,000 of the farmers' bulletins prepared by men who understand scientific soil culture and live stock breeding. It is not worth while to quest at these bulletins. In the present depressed state of agriculture every aid to the farmer ought to be welcomed, and these bulletins certainly contain much information that is valuable to him. If the farmer had more wealth and political influence, the same interest would be manifested in high grade all that is done for him. The bulletins on live stock feeding and the dairy industry are among those that will help him to better his condition, if he heeds the information contained in them.

The workings of that law passed by the Illinois legislature to "rescue the municipal government of Chicago from the partisan spoils system" will be watched with interest. If it can rescue Chicago, it can rescue anything, even a member of congress who has fallen from the path of virtue.

It is aggravating to find that one railroad in the United States not only pays taxes, expenses and a small dividend on its preferred stock, but actually had a surplus of $4,371 at the close of 1894. It is the Pittsburg, Reading Valley and Chicago road.

He also studied in Munich with Mr. Jean Nicole Brede. While in the city Mr. Voegh will be the guest of Miss Ethyl Nesbit, of West Berry street. The Fort Wayne club will enjoy a rare musical treat.

The sale and supper given last evening at the First Presbyterian church by the Young Women's society was a decided success financially, and socially it was delightful in every particular. The fancy work, candies and cakes were displayed in the parlor and the supper was served in the reception room. The tables were prettily arranged, each one having a color and decorated with flowers in harmony. The supper was in charge of the section of which Mrs. A. A. Furman is chairman, and was served by the young ladies of the society. The proceeds of the sale which will amount to about $125, will be applied to the church debt.

At the Berry street M. E. church last evening the Beulah chapter, Epworth league, tendered Rev. and Mrs. M. S. Marble a farewell reception, and the large number of guests in attendance showed the high esteem in which the pastor and his wife are held by their people. All the arrangements for the reception, which proved a most enjoyable affair, were carried forward by the little folks and to them is due much credit. A literary and musical program, under the direction of Miss Edith Al hen, president of the chapter, was rendered the early part of the evening and later refreshments were served. At the conclusion of the regular program, the Berry street chapter, Epworth league, took occasion to present to Mr. and Mrs. Marble a handsome onyx stand and lamp. In response to the presentation, Mr. Marble spoke very feelingly of the work of the past three years, of the friendship made in that time, and of the work to come, closing with a parting admonition for the young people to stand by their new minister as they had stood by him. Mrs. Marble also spoke briefly expressing her esteem for the people with whom her lot, for the past three years, has been cast. Dr. and Mrs. G. N. Eldridge, late of Wayne street church, were present, and each spoke briefly of their work in Fort Wayne, and the happy hours they have passed here.

The two year old son of E. S. Hollowell, of Marion, died unattended by a physician. The father is a Christian scientist, who relied on silent prayer for a cure. One year ago Mr. Hollowell's wife died under similar circumstances.

Richmond will have a music festival, beginning on the 27th of May and continuing three days, under the direction of Prof. Albert H. Morehead. Geneva Johnston Bishop, of Chicago; Miss Minnie Bremner, of Erie, Pa.; Charles Stevens, of Detroit, Mich., and L. P. Eddy, of Grand Rapids, Mich., will be the chief soloists.

Miss Belle Prime, of Howard county, has brought suit against David L. Duke, of Duke Bros & Co., of Kokomo, claiming $10 000 for breach of promise. The defendant is a bachelor and a man of affairs. According to the complaint, the courtship dates back to 1891. As the years passed they were betrothed, but the marriage was postponed from time to time until February, 1894, when the defendant flatly refused to proceed any further. Mr. Duke says of the suit that it is a matter to be settled in court. "If I have in any way wronged this young woman, and I most heartily insist that I have not, the law will, doubtless, do her justice."

"Now, Gen'ral, you're posted; come, give us your views.
In a brush at the front what's the power
Of the rebel to use?"
He winked at a star as he puffed his cigar,
And slowly replied, "In a brush at the front
I never use powder, but——SOZODONT."

LYON'S WONDERS
A SPECIFIC For all DERANGEMENTS of the STOMACH. PRICE $1.00
Manf'd by THE LYON MEDICINE CO. INDIANAPOLIS IND.
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

A Railroad Man Cured.

Mr. Tom E. Kline, an engineer, forty years of age, residing at 630 East Ohio street, Indianapolis, Ind., who has run an engine for two years on the Wabash road, and thirteen years on the Monon road, much of that time having been the engineer on the fast newspaper train run, for the past ten years, suffered from indigestion in its worst form. He had a continual heavy feeling in his stomach, so that he had to lie in bed to ease his pain. This indigestion caused chronic diarrhoea and sleeplessness. He had to be very careful as to his diet, and could only eat as simple a food as potatoes sparingly. He took four boxes of LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS, and now he can eat anything. His digestion is perfect; he can sleep well, and he gives it as his opinion that the medicine does everything that is claimed for it. He heartily recommends it to all persons suffering from indigestion or any stomach disorder.

KING SOLOMON'S MINES.

A Well Known Californian Explorer Has Gone In Search of Them.

William P. St. Auburn, the well known California mining engineer and manager and one of the owners of the Kingsaro mine, has gone to South Africa to hunt for the lost mine of King Solomon.

"I am going for Sir Cecil Rhodes, the premier of South Africa, and his associates," he said. "John Hays Hammond is also in my party, expecting also to go, but I couldn't get away then. Since he has removed the opposition, urging me to come on, and I have decided to do it. I am going up into Mashonaland. That is where the very old mines of Africa are, among which are supposed to be the Ophir and others, which were worked in the time of Solomon.

"I am taking my Bible along," he added smilingly, "and will peer myself as well as I can regarding them, and I am also going to review Rider Haggard's book, 'King Solomon's Mines,' which I understand is quite reliable. From this, however, the impression should not be gained that I am going to prospect, as others do in a new region. The mines are known to exist. I shall merely examine them as an engineer and give my opinion as to which are best to work. Mashonaland has many of these mines. The old workings can be seen in many places.

"I read a letter from Charles J. Clarke, dated at Buluwayo, in Matabeleland, the adjoining province to Mashonaland, in which he says that it is very lively all through that country. He went to Buluwayo about a year ago, when it had but two houses. Now there are 2,000 white men there."

A TEXAS STEER.

Judge Culberson of Texas Is a True Son of His Native State.

If a new international monetary conference be called, one of the delegates thereto chosen by the late congress will create somewhat of a sensation in Paris, Berlin, Brussels or wherever the conference may be held. Congressman Culberson of Texas is a character. He has a method of speech and a manner of dress all his own. He buys his clothing ready made and always contrives to select garments which could not by any possibility be made to fit him. He wears a tarnsel down collar and an old fashioned black cravat. He loves to sit with his chin resting in his shirt bosom, and the latter, owing to an overindulgence tobacco chewing habit, is not always immaculate. In conversation Judge Culberson is a true southwesterner. He has no scruple about saying "I done" and "I seed it." "You bet" is one of his favorite expressions, and he invariably says "catched" instead of caught. His vocabulary of "cusses" and his discourse is full of quaint and homely similes and hyperole. Notwithstanding these peculiarities he is a man of great ability, though not of great energy. He is as busy as he is careless, but when roused by a bath learned and witty enough to enable him to take care of himself in any company. Many of the foreign delegates at Baches attempt have fun with this homely but brainy southwestern statesman. They will be sure to uncover a Tartar.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The Grand Rapids Re-elects its Corps of Officials.

The General Electric and Westinghouse Companies Form a Combination—A Share of the Shops.

The stockholders of the Cincinnati, Richmond and Fort Wayne railway met in Richmond yesterday, there being 25,215 shares of stock represented. The following officers were elected:

Vice President—C. C. Binkley, of Richmond.

Secretary and Treasurer—F. A. Gorham, of Grand Rapids.

Directors—C. C. Binkley, J. F. Miller and H. E. Robinson, of Richmond; David Studebaker, of Decatur; James McCrea, J. T. Brooks and John E. Davidson, of Pittsburg, and W. O. Hugart, W. R Shelby, T. J. O'Brien and J. E. Hugart, of Grand Rapids.

ELECTRICAL COMBINE.

The General Electric company and the Westinghouse people have practically pooled their patents, the deal being consummated yesterday. Under the arrangement each company will have the right to manufacture under the other's patents. The companies will contribute a certain percentage of their earnings to a common fund to be used in defending their patents against infringements by other companies. Such part of the fund as is not used will be returned to the companies at intervals in proportion to their contributions. The litigation between the General Electric and the Westinghouse companies heretofore has entailed on them an expense of $1,000,000 a year.

NIGHT HORROR.

found near where Rigot was lying. The body was identified as that of James Edwards, an employe of a fish stand in the market. Edwards had been seen five minutes before the explosion and the fact that his body was found in the ruins was a surprise. It was subsequently ascertained that he had entered the saloon a few minutes previous to the explosion with a basket of shrimps.

A WHOLE FAMILY RESCUED.

At 9 o'clock the workmen, while walking around the ruins, heard a whining noise, and, upon raising some heavy timbers, found a black-and-tan nursing several puppies. All of the animals were alive and when rescued seemed to realize their situation. Three hundred dollars and a quantity of jewelry have also been recovered.

PROBABLY THE WORK OF ITALIANS.

While the police are inclined to believe that the explosion was the result of an accident, a number of people residing in the vicinity of the wrecked building are of an entirely different opinion. They state openly that the explosion was an attempt to kill the man Boulet, who had such a miraculous escape. Boulet is a Frenchman, who two years ago shot and killed one of the recalcitrant Italians doing business in the vicinity of the French market. This man was Aristide Balestrici, who ran a barroom in the neighborhood as well as a fish and game stand in the market. Boulet and Balestrici were at one time good friends. They were in the saloon business together.

BOULET KILLS BALESTRICI.

Boulet's wife came between them and not only broke up the business arrangements, but caused a deadly enmity between the two men. The woman contracted a liason with Balestrici, which, upon reaching the ears of Boulet, caused him to leave his wife Balestrici would frequently taunt Boulet with his dishonor, but was always surrounded by friends when doing so. The Italia also threatened to kill the Frenchman and those who were well acquainted with the men expected a tragedy at any time. It came about two years ago. The men met in the French market and after having words, Balestrici, who was carrying a cane, drew from its sheath a large sword, with which he attacked Boulet The latter drew a revolver, fired and killed the Italian. The trial resulted in Boulet's acquittal.

Ever since then Boulet has been looked upon as a marked man His friends tried to persuade him to leave the city or at least to stay away from the market, but he refused. Last night he occupied a room in the rear, on the second floor, and it is believed that the explosion was done for the simple purpose of killing him. That he escaped is looked upon as a miracle. Balestrici was a leader in the Italian colony. He was a man of great influence and was just the sort of an individual to be at the head of a Mafia organization.

MUNYON.

His Wonderful Cures Win the Confidence of the Public.

1986 Bottles of His Remedies Sold by Druggists Yesterday—The Professor Talks on Coughs and Colds.

Prof. Munyon, in the course of conversation, remarked The weather has been very changeable during the past two days and thousands of people in this city are prostrated with colds.

Many of them, no doubt, will think—only a cold. Truly a little thing to make a fuss about But did you ever stop to consider that a cold is the beginning of most diseases? It is the starting point of pneumonia, rheumatism, neuralgia, catarrh, kidney troubles and numerous other diseases. Speak of a cold and you should finish thus:

Colds, catarrh, coughs, bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption. Many long periods of sickness could be prevented by prompt attention to a cold. Munyon's Cold Cure is within reach of all, costs but 25c and is guaranteed to break up any form of a cold in a few hours and will positively prevent pneumonia. A cough, continued the professor, is a wise design of the Creator to warn us back from the grave. It shows us that the bronchial tubes are becoming diseased and that bronchitis is beginning. From bronchitis to consumption is but a step.

I do not pretend that we can effect a cure where they are tubercles on the lungs or where the patient is in the last stage of consumption, but do emphatically say that Munyon's Cough Cure will reduce inflammation of the air tubes and check at once diseases of the lungs, acting marvelously as a soothing and healing balm upon the parts affected.

It is a positive cure for every form of cough where the lungs are not covered by tubercles.

TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS

spent in advertising could not have created such a demand for any medicine. But the fact that out of 3,000 trial bottles given away only thirty-seven persons have reported no benefit received and 871 cured or greatly relieved compels the most skeptical to acknowledge the efficacy of Munyon's new method in treating disease. Remember, this company puts up a cure for every disease just as positive in its action as the rheumatism remedy and sold by all druggists for 25 cents.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Munyon's rheumatism cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism can be cured in from one to five days. It speedily cures shooting pains, sciatics, lumbago and all rheumatic pains in the back, hips and loins It seldom fails to give relief after one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used. Price, 25c.

STOMACH AND DYSPEPSIA CURE.

Munyon's Stomach and Dyspepsia Cure cures all forms of indigestion and stomach trouble, such as rising food, distress after eating, shortness of breath and all affections of the heart caused by indigestion, wind on the stomach, bad taste, offensive breath, loss of appetite, faintness or weakness of stomach, headache from indigestion, soreness of the stomach, coated tongue, heartburn, shooting pains of the stomach, constipation, dizziness, faintness and lack of energy. Price, 25c,

Munyon's Nerve Cure cures all the symptoms of nervous exhaustion, such as depressed spirits, failure of memory, restless and sleepless nights, pains in the head and dizziness. It cures general debility, stimulates and strengthens the nerves and tones up the whole body. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Kidney Cure cures pains in back, loins or groins from kidney disease, dropsy of the feet and limbs, frequent desire to pass water, dark colored and turbid urine, sediment in the urine and diabetes. Price, 25 cents.

CATARRH CURE.

Catarrh positively cured—Are you willing to spend 50 cents for a cure that positively cures catarrh by removing the cause of the disease? If so ask your druggist for a 25 cent bottle of Munyon's Catarrh Cure and a 25-cent bottle of Catarrh Tablets. The catarrh cure will eradicate the disease from the system and the tablets will cleanse and heal the afflicted parts and restore them to a natural and healthful condition.

Munyon's Liver Cure corrects headache, biliousness, jaundice, constipation and all liver diseases. Price, 25 cents.

Munyon's Cold Cure prevents pneumonia and breaks up a cold in a few hours. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Cough Cure stops cough, night sweats, allays soreness and speedily heals the lungs. Price 25 cents.

A TOP FOR EVERYBODY.

Can Be Used in the House or Out of Doors.

It has a great advantage over most tops.

When its powers of amusement are exhausted it can be used as an ink stand.

The application of the principle of fly wheel, together with the material used in its construction, which lessens the friction, makes the Top run longer than any made.

The Top will walk the rope.

Watch for the big ad which will tell you when and how to get them. 24wtf
